Casino Royale raises R50 000 for Hospice

Rotary and St Francis Bay and the lovely bunch of St Francis Bay Ukupha ladies put on a most magnificent evening at the 5-star St Francis Links Golf Estate last month and raised R50 000 for St Francis Hospice.

The Casino Royale evening saw everyone dressed in their finery. Most of the ladies had long evening dresses, causing oohs and aahs as they arrived and walked along a red carpet to the entrance.

Jo Brown as always did a fantastic job as MC while Lynette Ashton, Gilly Schwallier and others from Rotary were on hand to help with the proceedings as were the lovely Ukupha ladies. The Links' chefs put on a most delicious, yummy spread of eats and then it was time for play.

R500 funny money was given to each attendee and this was changed for gambling chips. There were Black Jack and Roulette tables and the red jacketed croupiers did a great job with infinite patience for those who needed coaching and explanations. Some won jobs, others not. There were yells at wins and loud groans at losses. The winners could not cash in their chips though and returned them to the croupiers at the end of the evening.

Overall it was such fun - and all for a good cause for St Francis Hospice.
